LOT 33 - JEAN-PAUL
MOSCOVINO (1947) "RUE DE
L'OUEST" - 500/800

Breathtaking original Jean-Paul Moscovino Matt Blue Aluminium Sculpture - superb in every aspect. Jean-Paul Moscovino sculpts color as one plays with a peel to reconstitute the fruit ... and this ambiguity of the material sums up all the magic and the questions of the passage from one world to another: does the form exist thanks to the full or through a vacuum? Only the colored film can testify to the interaction of these two "enlightened" realities. And if the artist seeks his bearings in the representation of this border, which he cuts out and folds to find the third dimension, the thickness of everything, the themes addressed are always figurative: the body is the only vehicle for travel! Life is thus made up of love balances between material and spiritual, visible and invisible, finite, and infinite ...

LOT 33 - JEAN-PAUL MOSCOVINO (1947) "RUE DE L'OUEST" - 500/800

Breathtaking original Jean-Paul Moscovino Matt Blue Aluminium Sculpture - superb in every aspect. Jean-Paul Moscovino sculpts color as one plays with a peel to reconstitute the fruit ... and this ambiguity of the material sums up all the magic and the questions of the passage from one world to another: does the form exist thanks to the full or through a vacuum? Only the colored film can testify to the interaction of these two "enlightened" realities. And if the artist seeks his bearings in the representation of this border, which he cuts out and folds to find the third dimension, the thickness of everything, the themes addressed are always figurative: the body is the only vehicle for travel! Life is thus made up of love balances between material and spiritual, visible and invisible, finite, and infinite ...

LOT 37 - PAIR OF GREY LEATHER CHAIRS BY DAVID HICKS - 600/900

These chairs were commissioned by L'oreal in the 1960s for its main London shop. During this period David Hicks made furniture for many west end shops amongst which were both L'oreal and Helena Rubenstein. London was in the middle of the swinging 60's and mad colour was the norm, so these chairs are somewhat understated for the period! One chair still carries a label "L'oreal 11710" to the underside. The style and quality are unmistakable. Soft grey leather and matching grey painted solid framework - absolutely stunning!!
